To Ron Dener Productions,

On behalf of the Orlando Film Commission, I would like to extend my encouragement to productions considering Central Florida as their filming destination. Our region has long been a premier choice for film, television, and commercial projects due to its diverse locations, experienced crew base, and film-friendly policies.

Central Florida offers a unique blend of landscapes that can double as "Anywhere, USA," making it a versatile backdrop for a wide range of productions. From scenic waterfronts and historic neighborhoods to modern cityscapes and lush natural preserves, our area provides a wealth of visually dynamic settings. Additionally, Florida's favorable climate allows for year-round filming, minimizing weather-related delays and ensuring efficient production timelines.

Beyond its natural and architectural assets, Central Florida boasts a robust production infrastructure. Our local crew members are highly skilled and experienced across all areas of filmmaking, from pre-production to post-production. We also offer a supportive network of businesses, vendors, and government agencies that understand the unique needs of the industry and work collaboratively to facilitate seamless productions.

We hope your team will consider bringing your project "You Be the Judge" to Central Florida, where you will find a welcoming film community, adaptable locations, and an efficient production environment. If we can be of any assistance in making your production a success, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Best regards,

Brooke Hill
